Get wild at Bakethin

This short walk takes you to Bakethin Hide via a loop under Kielder Viaduct. The hide was designed and built by Newcastle University architecture students as part of our Art & Architecture programme. Looking out onto Bakethin Reservoir you are guaranteed to see some birdlife at any time of the year.

How to get there

The walk starts from Bakethin car park or the wildlife hide car park.

OS grid ref NY 631 926 or NY 630 925

Postcode for sat navs: NE48 1HF gets you to the village of Butteryhaugh. The turn off to Bakethin is signed before you get to the village (travelling from the south).

Bakethin pond, passed on this walk, is one place where you can get a bit closer to wildlife. This dragonfly nymph has got its eye on an unsuspecting tadpole for a tasty tea!

Adders enjoy warming up in the sun on the banks of the old railway. Britain’s only venomous snake, they won’t do you any harm as long as you leave them well alone.

Go wild with the app!

You can follow this walk using the Viewranger app. It includes GPS directions, information and audio clips on what to look out for:

www.viewranger.com

Make sure you download before you visit.

web www.visitkielder.com
email info@visitkielder.com
call 0345 155 0236

Thank you to our partner Forestry Commission England for use of the Ordnance Survey based mapping.

All details were accurate at the time of going to print Jan 2019. Please refer to www.visitkielder.com for updates.
Bakethin Hide
This short walk to our special wildlife hide and back is all on good paths and tracks. Suitable for buggies and wheelchairs.

Start from either Bakethin car park or the wildlife hide car park (limited spaces). Look out for the small detour to our special forest clearing (marked * on map).

The route is well waymarked with brown ‘Wild Walk’ plaques (right). You can also download the route using the Viewranger app (see overleaf).

Between April and August you may be lucky enough to see an osprey, either passing through from Kielder Water to nesting sites in the forest, or feeding in Bakethin Reservoir itself.

There are information panels in the two ‘pods’ that make up the hide. They tell you about some of the birds and other wildlife you might look out for at different times of the year. There is nearly always something to see, whether it’s oystercatchers with their chicks on the island or ducks and geese on the water. The ‘Forest’ pod has a full length window with views of the forest floor, that gives you the chance to spot woodland birds and red squirrels.

Photo © North East Wildlife

Photo © Graham Farmer

Photo © Graham Farmer

This map is based upon Ordnance Survey material © Crown copyright and database rights 2018 Ordnance Survey 100021242. You are permitted to use this data solely to enable you to respond to, or interact with, the organisation that provided you with the data. You are not permitted to copy, sub-licence, distribute or sell any of this data to third parties in any form. This map cannot be used for any other purpose without the express permission of Forestry Commission and Kielder Water & Forest Park Development Trust.